Situations:

Teddy has started his EOF program the summer before his freshmen year of college. He is contemplating quitting the program	Teddy has begun his first semester at NJIT. He is a month in and all his friends have found girlfriends except for him. He hears of the campus gym	Teddy has begun going to the gym consistently, but he doesn't see as much progress. He is trying to keep track of his workout but doesn't know how	Since teddy is a regular at the gym, his friends now go with him from time to time. One day, while he was trying to show off his messes up the workouts and his friends make fun of him	Teddy has his exams coming up. He has to take his CS 100 common	Teddy's dad asks him to go over the weekend and help him at his construction company. His buddies invited him to go to their local gym that same weekend	Teddy has become so athletic to the point that his friends are not at his level of routine. He wants to find a new gym group that can do the rough exercises as him	Though Teddy takes pictures after his workout to showcase his progress, his friends still tease him about not believing he works out as much as he says he does. He wants to take video lifting of snapchat but he doesn't know anyone	Teddy sees a guy struggling while doing a workout and wants to show him at the exact moment what he is doing wrong	Teddy finally is able to lift 100lbs after rigorous months of workout. But nobody is there to record the monumental moment	Teddy Likes his body and wants to show it off

Actions:

1.Decides to stay in the program. He does the minimum of work. It is not as if it's actual first semester	2.Teddy decides to begin visiting the gym as much as possible. He has enough free time anyways cause he doesn't do his academic work	3.He tries a variety of applications from snapchat to notes; and even a few workout apps recommended to him	4. He tries to get back at them by taking a snapchat video of them working out. But they don't care	5. Studies the day off for about half an hour. Takes the exam confidently, knows he probably got a 70 or above	6. Though he really wanted to workout and see his friends routine for the weekend, he is still went home and helped his dad.	7.He begins asking people on all sorts of social media if anybody is interested. He goes on the NJIT Reddit, discourse, Facebook, etc	8. Attempts to record himself one handed and fails. Ends up recording himself on the treadmill	9. He asks him for his phone and takes a quick video of the guy while working out	10. Attempts to do it again after asking a guy who was standing near him to hold his phone. But he is unable to do it over	11. He takes pictures and posts them on snapstory
